Following the discussion in Coreper on 11 March 2010, delegations will find attached a compromise proposal by the Presidency with regard to the above-mentioned Commission proposal.

2009/0064 (COD)

Proposal for a

DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL on Alternative Investment Fund Managers and amending Directives 2003/41/EC and 2009/65/EC
(Text with EEA relevance)

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, and in particular Article 53
(1) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the European Commission,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Central Bank,

After consulting the European Economic and Social Committee,

Acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure,

Whereas:

- (1) Managers of alternative investment funds (AIFM) are responsible for the management of a significant amount of invested assets in Europe, account for significant amounts of trading in markets for financial instruments, and can exercise an important influence on markets and companies in which they invest.

- (2) The impact of AIFM on the markets in which they operate is largely beneficial, but recent financial difficulties have underlined how activities of AIFM may also serve to spread or amplify risks through the financial system. Uncoordinated national responses to these risks make the efficient management of these risks difficult. This Directive therefore aims at establishing common requirements governing the authorisation and supervision of AIFM in order to provide a coherent approach to the related risks and their impact on investors and markets in the European Union.
- (3) Recent difficulties in financial markets have underlined that many AIFM strategies are vulnerable to some or several important risks in relation to investors, other market participants and markets. In order to provide comprehensive and common arrangements for supervision, it is necessary to establish a framework capable of addressing those risks taking into account the diverse range of investment strategies and techniques employed by AIFM. Consequently, this Directive should apply to AIFM managing all types of funds which are not covered by Directive 2009/65/EC on the coordination of laws, regulations and administrative provisions relating to the undertakings for collective investment in transferable securities (UCITS) (recast)⁹, irrespective of the legal or contractual manner in which the AIFM is entrusted with this responsibility. AIFM should not be entitled to manage UCITS within the meaning of Directive 2009/65/EC on the basis of authorisation under this Directive.
- (4) The Directive lays down requirements regarding the way in which AIFM should manage alternative investment funds (AIF) under their responsibility. It would be disproportionate to regulate the structure or composition of the portfolios of the AIF managed by AIFM and it would be difficult to provide for such extensive harmonisation due to the very diverse types of AIF managed by AIFM.

- (5) The scope of this Directive should be confined to the management, as a regular business, of AIF of both the open-ended and the closed-ended type, irrespective of their legal form, whether listed or not, which raise capital from a number of investors with a view to investing it in accordance with a defined investment policy for the benefit of those investors. Management of AIF should mean providing at least investment management services. An authorised AIFM should not be prevented from also engaging in activities of administration and marketing of AIF, or from engaging in activities related to the assets of the AIF.. An externally appointed AIFM should not be prevented from also providing the service of management of portfolios of investments with mandates given by investors on a discretionary, client-by-client basis, including portfolios owned by pension funds and institutions for occupational retirement provision which are covered by Directive 2003/41/EC of the European Parliament and the Council of 3 June 2003 on the activities and supervision of institutions for occupational retirement provision¹, or from providing the non-core services of investment advice; safe-keeping and administration in relation to units of collective investment undertakings and reception and transmission of orders. Pursuant to authorisation under Directive 2009/65/EC, an externally appointed AIFM should be allowed to also manage UCITS.
- (5a) This Directive should provide for a single AIFM for each AIF managed within the scope of the Directive, which should be responsible for the compliance with the requirements of this Directive. Depending on their legal form, AIF could be either externally or internally managed. AIF should be deemed internally managed when the management functions are performed by the governing body or any other internal resource of the AIF. Where the legal form of the AIF permits an internal management and where the AIF's governing body chooses not to appoint an external AIFM, the AIF and the AIFM are identical. In that case the AIF is also an AIFM and should therefore comply with all requirements for AIFM under this Directive and be authorised as such. An AIFM which is an internally managed AIF should however not be authorised as the external manager of one or more other AIF. An AIF should be deemed externally managed when an external legal person has been appointed as manager by the AIF or on account of the AIF (the appointed AIFM), which through this appointment is responsible for managing the AIF. In either case only an internally managed AIF or an external AIFM should be able to delegate the portfolio management or risk management functions to other entities in accordance with Article 18 of this Directive. Where an external AIFM has been appointed to manage a particular AIF, it should not be deemed to be providing the investment service of portfolio management, as defined by Article 4(1)(9) of Directive 2004/39/EC on Markets in Financial Instruments amending Council Directives 85/611/EEC and 93/6/EEC and Directive 2000/12/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council and repealing Council Directive 93/22/EEC¹⁰, but instead providing the function of collective portfolio management in accordance with this Directive.

(5aa) Several provisions of this Directive oblige the AIFM to ensure compliance with requirements for which, in some fund structures, the AIFM is not responsible. An example is fund structures where the responsibility for appointing the depositary rests with the AIF or another entity acting on behalf of the AIF. In such cases, the AIFM has no ultimate control over whether a depositary is actually appointed, unless the AIF is internally managed. Since this Directive does not regulate the AIF, there could be no obligation in the Directive on the AIF to appoint a depositary. In cases of failure of an AIFM to ensure compliance with requirements for which the AIF or another entity on its behalf is responsible, the competent authorities should require the AIFM to take the necessary steps to remedy the situation. If, despite such steps, the non-compliance persists, the AIFM should resign as manager of that AIF, and if the AIFM does not resign, the competent authorities of its home Member State should require that it resign. In that case the AIF may no longer be marketed in the European Union.

- (5b) This Directive should not apply to managers of non-pooled investments such as endowments and sovereign wealth funds to the management of portfolios of investments in accordance with mandates given by investors on a discretionary, client-by-client basis nor to any other form of individual portfolio management. Nor should this Directive apply to managers insofar as they manage AIF whose only investors are the managers themselves or their parent undertakings, their subsidiaries or other subsidiaries of their parent undertaking and where these investors are not themselves AIF. Nor should this Directive apply to holding companies insofar as they are parent undertakings of a group, within the meaning of Article 2 (12) of the Directive 2002/87/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council, and the main purpose of the group is to carry a business strategy by producing and selling goods and/or providing services, except for collective investment services, to the customers of the group as evidenced, for instance, by the description of the main activities of the group in their instruments of incorporation, the group annual report or the relatively low importance of non-current investments on the consolidated group balance sheet.. This Directive should furthermore not apply to the management of pension funds, employee participation or savings scheme, to supranational institutions, national central banks or national, regional and local governments and bodies or institutions which manage funds supporting social security and pension systems, nor to securitisation vehicles.
- (5c) Investment firms authorised under Directive 2004/39/EC and credit institutions authorised under Directive 2006/48/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 June 2006 relating to the taking up and pursuit of the business of credit institutions (recast)^{10a} should not be required to obtain an authorisation under this Directive in order to provide investment services such as individual portfolio management in respect of AIF. The provision of investment services by these entities in respect of AIF should never amount to a de facto circumvention of this Directive by means of turning the AIFM into a letter-box entity irrespective of whether the AIFM is established inside or outside the Union.

- (6) In order to avoid imposing excessive or disproportionate requirements, this Directive provides for an optional exemption applicable by Member States for AIFM where the cumulative AIF under management fall below a threshold of EUR 100 million or for AIFM where the cumulative AIF under management fall below a threshold of 500 million, which only manage unleveraged AIF and do not grant investors redemption rights during a period of five years. Although the activities of the AIFM concerned are unlikely to have individually significant consequences for financial stability, it could be possible that in aggregation they could cause systemic risks. Consequently, those AIFM which are exempted from this Directive should not be subject to authorisation but to registration in their home Member States and should provide their competent authorities with relevant information regarding the main instruments in which they are trading and on the principal exposures and most important concentrations of the AIF they manage. However, in order to be able to benefit from the rights granted under this Directive those smaller AIFM should be allowed to be treated as AIFM subject to the opt-in procedure foreseen by this Directive.
- (7) This Directive aims at providing a harmonised and stringent regulatory and supervisory framework for the activities of AIFM. Authorisation in accordance with this Directive should cover the management of AIF throughout the European Union. This should include marketing to professional investors of AIF managed by the AIFM and established in a Member State.
- (8) This Directive does not regulate AIF. AIF may therefore continue to be regulated and supervised at the national level. The Directive therefore does not prevent Member States from adopting or from continuing to apply national requirements in respect of AIF established on their territory. The fact that a Member State may impose additional requirements on AIF established on its territory compared to requirements applicable in other Member States should not prevent the exercise of rights of AIFM authorised in other Member States in accordance with this Directive to market to professional investors AIF established in another Member State than the Member State imposing additional requirements and which are therefore not subject to and do not need to comply with those additional requirements.

- (9) Member States should be able to allow the marketing of all or certain types of AIF managed by AIFM to retail investors on their territory. If a Member State allows the marketing of certain types of AIF, the Member State should make an assessment case-by-case to determine whether a specific AIF may be referred to as a type of AIF which may be marketed to retail investors on its territory. Without prejudice to the application of other instruments of European Union law, Member States may in such cases impose stricter requirements on AIF and AIFM as a precondition for marketing to retail investors than what is the case for AIF marketed to professional investors on their territory, irrespective of whether AIF are marketed on a domestic or cross-border basis. Where a Member State allows the marketing of AIF to retail investors on its territory, this possibility should be available regardless of the Member State where the AIFM is established, and Member States may not impose stricter requirements on AIF established in the Union and marketed on a cross-border basis than on AIF marketed domestically. In addition, AIFM, investment firms authorised under Directive 2004/39/EC and credit institutions authorised under Directive 2006/48/EC which provide investment services to retail clients have to take into account any additional requirements when assessing whether a certain AIF is suitable or appropriate for an individual retail client or whether it is a complex or non-complex financial instrument.
- (10) Deleted
- (11) It is necessary to provide for the application of minimum capital requirements to ensure the continuity and the regularity of the management of AIF provided by the AIFM. If an AIFM not reaching the threshold of EUR 500 million set out in Article 2b(1)(b) (...) and the AIFM solely manages AIF which, according to their investment strategy and objectives, make investments and divestments solely on a non-frequent basis, are not leveraged and do not grant investors redemption rights during a period of five years, the capital requirements should be reduced.

(12) It is necessary to ensure that AIFM operate subject to robust governance controls. AIFM should be managed and organised so as to minimise conflicts of interest. Recent developments underline the crucial need to separate asset safe-keeping and management functions, and segregate investor assets from those of the manager. Although AIFM manage AIF with different business models and arrangements for inter alia asset safe-keeping, it is essential that a depositary separate from the AIFM is appointed to provide depositary functions with respect to AIF. The depositary should be responsible for ensuring that investor money is booked correctly in segregated accounts, for the safe-keeping of financial instruments, including the holding in custody of financial instruments that can be kept, and the verification of whether the AIF or the AIFM on behalf of the AIF has obtained ownership of all other assets. When ensuring investor money is booked in segregated accounts, the depositary should at least ensure that appropriate and rigorous processes for segregation are in place and routinely observed. The holding of assets could be delegated to a third party, which in its turn could delegate this function. However, delegation should be subject to strict requirements about the suitability of the third party entrusted with this function, and about the due skill, care and diligence that the depositary should employ to select, appoint and review this third party. A third party may maintain a common segregated account for multiple AIF. A depositary should act honestly, fairly, professionally, independently and in the interest of the AIF or the investors of the AIF. The depositary should be liable for the losses suffered by the AIFM, the AIF and the investors as a result of its failure to perform its obligations, including the obligation to return the financial instruments lost while held in its custody. The depositary, however, should be able to discharge itself from this restitution, on a contractual basis, whenever it is unable to fulfil its custodian functions directly and it lawfully delegates them, and therefore it would be unreasonable for it to remain liable. This situation may arise, inter alia, when the country where the AIF intends to invest only allows national custodians to carry out those functions. The contract providing for such a discharge should clearly explain the reasons justifying its use, and it should clearly establish the parties assuming the liability vis-a-vis the AIFM, the AIF, and the investors of the AIF, as well as the arrangements under which the liability is assumed.

Finally, this liability regime acknowledges the existence of other circumstances caused by force majeure that may exempt the depositary from its liability, although the legal regime of such circumstances of force majeure is a matter of national private laws and, therefore, beyond the harmonising objective of this Directive. The depositary should be established in the home Member State of the AIF. However, Member States may allow the depositary to be established in another Member State for a maximum period of four years, so that they can build up the necessary infrastructure to develop the activity of AIFM. After this period the general rule should apply.

(12a) This Directive should be without prejudice to any future legislative measures with respect to the depositary in the UCITS Directive, as UCITS and AIF are different both in the investment strategies they follow and in the type of investors they are intended for.

(12aa) In order to address the potentially detrimental effect of poorly designed remuneration structures on the sound management of risk and control of risk-taking behaviour by individuals, there should be an express obligation for AIFM to establish and maintain, for those categories of staff whose professional activities have a material impact on the risk profiles of AIF they manage, remuneration policies and practices that are consistent with sound and effective risk management. These categories of staff should at least include senior management, risk takers and control functions.

(12ab) The principles governing remuneration policies should recognise that AIFM may apply the provisions in different ways according to their size and the size of the AIF they manage, their internal organisation and the nature, the scale and the complexity of their activities.

(12b) The principles regarding sound remuneration policies set out in the Commission Recommendation of 30 April 2009 on remuneration policies in the financial services sector¹ are consistent with and complement the principles of this Directive.

- (12c) In order to promote supervisory convergences in the assessment of remuneration policies and practices, the Committee of European Securities Regulators should ensure the existence of guidelines on sound remuneration policies in the AIFM sector. The Committee of European Banking Supervisors should assist in the elaboration of such guidelines.
- (13) Reliable and objective asset valuation is crucial for the protection of investor interests. Different AIFM employ different methodologies and systems for valuing assets, depending on the assets and markets in which they predominantly invest. It is appropriate to recognise these differences but to, nevertheless, require the AIFM to implement valuation procedures resulting in the proper valuation of assets of the AIF.
- (14) AIFM may delegate the performance of its functions in accordance with this Directive. AIFM should however not be able to delegate their functions to the extent that they become a letter-box entity. AIFM should remain responsible for the proper performance of their functions and compliance with the rules set out in this Directive. The functions of an AIFM are listed in Annex I. All functions may not be applicable for all kinds of AIFM. For example, a closed-ended AIF does not redeem shares (or units). In some cases, when delegating the functions of investment management, it is not possible to delegate to entities under supervision, whether or not they are established within the Union. This concerns in particular the investment strategies of private equity and real estate funds. It may occasionally be applicable for other investment strategies. Where this condition cannot be satisfied, delegation may only be given on the condition of prior authorisation by the competent authorities of the home Member State. It is appropriate to allow the AIFM to delegate the performance of its functions to an entity established in a third country. Where the delegation concerns investment management, supervisory cooperation with that third country should be ensured. One way of ensuring supervisory cooperation could be through an appropriate cooperation agreement between the authorities concerned.

- (15) Given that an AIFM may employ leverage and may, under certain conditions, contribute to the build up of systemic risk or disorderly markets, special requirements should be imposed on AIFM employing leverage. The information needed to detect, monitor and respond to those risks has not been collected in a consistent way throughout the Union, and shared across Member States so as to identify potential sources of risk to the stability of financial markets in the Union. To remedy this situation, special requirements should apply to AIFM, which employ leverage at the level of the AIF. Such AIFM should be obliged to disclose information regarding the use and sources of leverage in their AIF. Information gathered by competent authorities should be aggregated and shared with other authorities in the Union, so as to facilitate a collective analysis of the impact of the leverage of AIF managed by AIFM on the financial system in the Union, as well as a common response. If one or several AIF managed by an AIFM could potentially constitute an important source of counterparty risk to a credit institution or other systemically relevant institutions in other Member States, such information should also be shared with the relevant authorities.
- (16) It is considered necessary to allow the competent authorities of the home Member State of the AIFM to impose limits on the level of leverage that AIFM could employ in AIF where the stability and integrity of the financial system may be threatened.

- (17) It is necessary to ensure that an AIFM provides companies over which it can exercise control with the information necessary for the company to assess how this control in the short to medium term impacts the company's situation. When AIFM are managing AIF which are in a position to exercise control over an issuer whose shares are admitted to trading on a regulated market, information should be disclosed according to Directive 2004/25/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 21 April 2004 on takeover bids¹ and Directive 2004/109/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 15 December 2004 on the harmonisation of transparency requirements in relation to information about issuers whose securities are admitted to trading on a regulated market and amending Directive 2001/34/EC². To this end, particular requirements should apply to AIFM managing AIF which are in a position to exercise control over a non-listed company. In order to ensure transparency regarding the controlled company, enhanced reporting requirements should apply. The annual reports of the relevant AIF should be supplemented with regard to the controlled company. When an AIFM is exempted from the obligation to make available annual reports for an AIF it manages, the AIFM should be obliged to make available this additional information in a separate document. When an AIFM manages AIF which reach a position to exercise control over a non-listed company, the AIFM should be obliged to provide the competent authorities of its home Member State and the investors of the AIF concerned with information on the debt supported directly or indirectly by the non-listed company, directly before and whenever material changes occur (...). These obligations to provide information on debt should apply also when an AIFM manages AIF which reach a position to exercise control over an issuer of shares admitted to trading on a regulated market. The obligations to report and provide information should apply without prejudice to Directive 2002/14/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 11 March 2002 establishing a general framework for informing and consulting employees in the European Community¹ and Directives 2004/25/EC and 2004/109/EC. These obligations should also apply without prejudice to the general rules adopted by Member States with respect to the acquisition of holdings in issuers and non listed companies in their territories, whether or not they are small and medium sized enterprises.

- (17a) In order to ensure a level playing field, also other entities than AIFM should provide companies over which they can exercise control with the information necessary for the company to assess how this control in the short to medium term impacts the company's situation. For the same reason, reporting requirements regarding such controlled companies should be equivalent to the requirements regarding companies over which an AIFM can exercise control. For this purpose, the Commission should conduct a review of relevant company law legislation as well as relevant financial sector directives at the latest three years after the date the rules enter into force in the Member States.
- (18) Deleted.
- (19) In order to ensure investor protection, the right for an AIFM to market AIF to professional investors in the Union on the basis of a single authorisation (the European passport for AIFM) should only be granted where the AIF is established in a Member State. This objective should not be circumvented through master-feeder structures. Therefore, when a feeder AIF invests in a master AIF which would not benefit from the right to market in the Union, the feeder AIF should not benefit from such passport either. Member States may, however, allow or continue to allow AIFM to market AIF established in third countries to professional investors on their territory subject to national law.

(19a) This Directive should also apply to those AIFM established in the European Union when managing AIF established outside the Union, whether those AIF are marketed in a Member State or not. In both cases there should be appropriate cooperation arrangements between the competent authorities of the AIFM and that of the fund. Those cooperation arrangements should take into account the fact that the AIFM complies with the rules of this Directive and that in some jurisdictions the AIF is not registered or authorised. In addition the cooperation arrangements should not be used as a barrier to impede third country funds from being marketed in a Member State.

(19aa) This Directive should also apply to those AIFM established outside the European Union when marketing AIF in a Member State. Those rules should not limit the choice of the European investors nor should they be used as a barrier to impede the marketing of those funds in a Member State or prevent the European Union to comply with WTO rules. Those AIF should be subject at least to rules similar to those applicable to EU funds with respect to the disclosure to investors. In order to tackle systemic risk those AIFM should also be subject to disclosure requirements vis a vis the competent authorities of the Member States where the AIF is marketed. Finally, there should be appropriate cooperation arrangements between the competent authorities of the Member States where the fund is marketed and that of the AIFM.

(19ab) The Commission should by means of delegated acts adopt measures aiming at designing a common framework to facilitate the establishment of cooperation arrangements with third countries. Those cooperation arrangements should be in line with international standards, for instance, those established by IOSCO. In addition, CESR should develop guidelines to determine the conditions of application of those measures and should engage with Member States to enable them to establish those cooperation arrangements.

- (19b) The Commission should review the relevant legislation about institutional investors before two years after the entry into force of this Directive in order to assess if their competent authorities are provided with sufficient information about the investments of institutional investors in AIF managed by AIFM established outside the European Union that are not marketed in the European Union. .
- (20) Deleted, see (14)
- (21) Deleted
- (22) It is necessary to clarify the powers and duties of competent authorities responsible for implementing this Directive, and to strengthen the mechanisms needed to ensure the necessary level of cross-border supervisory cooperation, including efficient mechanisms for information sharing. In this context, subsequent changes to the Directive should be made at a later stage in order to take into account the coming establishment of the European Securities Markets Authority (ESMA).
- (23) The relative importance of the activities of AIFM in some financial markets, especially in those cases where the AIF they manage do not have a material interest in the underlying products or instruments from which those markets derive, could, under some circumstances, hinder the efficient functioning of those markets. For example it could make those markets excessively volatile or affect the correct pricing of the instruments traded in them. It is therefore considered necessary to make sure the competent authorities enjoy the powers necessary to monitor the activities of AIFM in those markets and to intervene in those circumstances where it would be necessary to protect their orderly functioning. Also a possibility should be provided for the new European Systemic Risk Board to request systemically relevant information from the competent authorities.
- (24) Member States should lay down rules on penalties applicable to infringements of the provisions of this Directive and ensure that they are implemented. The sanctions should be effective, proportionate and dissuasive.

- (25) Any exchange or transmission of information between competent authorities, other authorities, bodies or persons should be in accordance with the rules on transfer of personal data as laid down in Directive 95/46/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 October 1995 on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data¹.
- (26) The measures necessary for the implementation of this Directive should be adopted by means of implementing acts in accordance with Article 291 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU) Regarding the procedure for the adoption of technical standards, subsequent changes should be made at a later stage in order to take into account the coming establishment of ESMA.

(27) The Commission should be empowered to adopt delegated acts in accordance with article 290 of the TFEU. In particular, the Commission should be empowered to adopt delegated acts specifying how to treat AIFM whose assets under management, including any assets acquired through use of leverage, in one and the same calendar year occasionally exceed and/or fall below the relevant threshold set out in this Directive and the procedures under which AIFM managing portfolios of AIF whose assets under management do not exceed the threshold set out in this Directive may exercise their right to be treated as AIFM covered by this Directive. Delegated acts should also be adopted to clarify the definition of leverage, to specify when leverage is considered to be employed on a systematic bases and how leverage is to be calculated. The Commission should also be empowered to adopt delegate acts specifying the circumstances under which marketing should be deemed to be at the initiative of the AIFM or on behalf of the AIFM. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the criteria to be used by competent authorities to assess whether AIFM comply with their obligations as regards their conduct of business, the type of conflicts of interests AIFM have to identify, as well as the reasonable steps AIFM are expected to take in terms of internal and organizational procedures in order to identify, prevent, manage and disclose conflicts of interest. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify when the risk management function does not need to be separated, the appropriate frequency for review of the risk management system and the risk management requirements to be employed by AIFM as a function of the risks which the AIFM incurs on behalf of the AIF that it manages. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the liquidity management systems and procedures that AIFM should employ, when an AIF should be considered not to be closed-ended and the alignment of the investment strategy, liquidity profile and redemption policy.

Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the requirements that originators of securitisation instruments have to meet in order for an AIFM to be allowed to invest in such instruments issued after 1 January 2011. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the requirements that AIFM have to comply with when investing in such securitisation instruments. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the procedures for the proper valuation of the assets and shares or units of AIF, the appropriate level of functional independence of the valuation function and the periodicity for valuation appropriate for open-ended funds. As regards depositaries, delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the modalities for the segregation of payments in different accounts, the notions of safe-keeping and custody, including the modalities for the segregation of financial instruments in different accounts, the determination of when financial instruments can be kept or subject to trading and when there is a loss of financial instruments or other losses, the supervisory duties of depositaries. Those delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the conditions for delegation of depositary functions, including the due diligence duties of depositaries, the determination of when there are objective reasons for delegation, the need for cooperation arrangements with other jurisdictions and the conditions under which a depositary may discharge itself of liability in the case of loss of financial instruments held by a sub-custodian. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the conditions for approval of depositaries, including an assessment of whether the depositary can furnish sufficient financial and professional guarantees to be able to effectively perform the relevant depositary functions and meet the commitments inherent in those functions. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the conditions under which the delegation of AIFM functions should be approved and the conditions under which the manager could no longer be considered to be the manager of the AIF in case of excessive delegation. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the content of the annual report that AIFM have to make available for each AIF they manage and to specify the disclosure obligations of AIFM to investors and reporting requirements to competent authorities as well as their frequency. Delegated acts should be adopted to specify the disclosure requirements imposed on AIFM, particularly with regard to leverage and the frequency of reporting to competent authorities and of disclosure to investors. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the principles competent authorities should use when considering implementation of limits on leverage. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the international standards and cooperation arrangements in relation to AIF established in third countries. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the modalities, content and frequency of exchange of information regarding AIFM between the competent authorities of the home Member State of the AIFM and other competent authorities where the AIFM individually or collectively with other AIFM may have an impact on the stability of systemically relevant financial institutions and the orderly functioning of markets. Delegated acts should also be adopted to specify the procedures for on-the-spot verifications and investigations.

- (28) In accordance with Declaration 39 on Article 290 of the TFEU, annexed to the Final Act of the Intergovernmental Conference which adopted the Treaty of Lisbon, signed on 13 December 2007, the Commission should consult experts appointed by the Member States in the preparation of draft delegated acts in the financial services area, in accordance with its established practice.
- (29) Since the objectives of the action to be taken, namely to ensure a high level of consumer and investor protection by laying down a common framework for the authorisation and supervision of AIFM cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States, as evidenced by the deficiencies of existing nationally based regulation and oversight of these actors, and can therefore, be better achieved at European Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve those objectives.
- (29a) In accordance with point 34 of the Interinstitutional Agreement on better law-making^{12a}, Member States are encouraged to draw up, for themselves and in the interests of the Union, their own tables illustrating, as far as possible, the correlation between this Directive and the transposition measures, and to make them public.

ANNEX II

REMUNERATION POLICIES

1. When establishing and applying the remuneration policies for those categories of staff, including senior management, whose professional activities have a material impact on their risk profile or the risk profiles of AIF they manage, AIFM shall comply with the following principles in a way and to the extent that is appropriate to their size and the size of AIF they manage, their internal organisation and the nature, the scope and the complexity of their activities:
 - (a) the remuneration policy is consistent with and promotes sound and effective risk management and does not encourage risk-taking which is inconsistent with the risk profiles, fund rules or instruments of incorporation of the AIF it manages;
 - (b) the remuneration policy is in line with the business strategy, objectives, values and interests of the AIFM and the AIF it manages or the investors of the AIF, and includes measures to avoid conflicts of interest;
 - (c) the management body in its supervisory function of the AIFM adopts and periodically reviews the general principles of the remuneration policy and is responsible for its implementation;
 - (d) the implementation of the remuneration policy is, at least annually, subject to central and independent internal review for compliance with policies and procedures for remuneration adopted by the management body in its supervisory function;
 - (e) staff members engaged in risk management are compensated in accordance with the achievement of the objectives linked to their functions, independent of the performance of the business areas they control;

- (f) where remuneration is performance related, the total amount of remuneration is based on a combination of the assessment of the performance of the individual and of the business unit or AIF concerned and of the overall results of the AIFM, and when assessing individual performance, financial as well as non-financial criteria are taken into account;
- (g) the assessment of performance is set in a multi-year framework appropriate to the life-cycle of the AIF managed by the AIFM in order to ensure that the assessment process is based on longer term performance and that the actual payment of performance-based components of remuneration is spread over a period which takes account of the redemption policy of the AIF it manages and their investment risks;
- (h) guaranteed variable remuneration is exceptional and occurs only in the context of hiring new staff and is limited to the first year;
- (i) fixed and variable components of total remuneration are appropriately balanced; the fixed component represents a sufficiently high proportion of the total remuneration to allow the operation of a fully flexible policy on variable remuneration components, including the possibility to pay no variable remuneration component;
- (j) payments related to the early termination of a contract reflect performance achieved over time and are designed in a way that does not reward failure;
- (k) the measurement of performance used to calculate variable remuneration components or pools of variable remuneration components includes an adjustment for all relevant types of current and future risks;

- (l) a substantial portion, which is at least 40 % of the variable remuneration component is deferred over a period which is appropriate in view of the life cycle and redemption policy of the AIF concerned and is correctly aligned with the nature of the risks of the AIF in question; remuneration payable under deferral arrangements vests no faster than on a pro-rata basis; in the case of a variable remuneration component of a particularly high amount, at least 60 % of the amount is deferred;
- (m) the variable remuneration, including the deferred portion, is paid or vests only if it is sustainable according to the financial situation of the AIFM as a whole, and justified according to the performance of the business unit, the AIF and the individual concerned; the total variable remuneration is generally considerably contracted where subdued or negative financial performance of the AIFM or of the AIF concerned occurs;
- (n) staff members are required to undertake not to use personal hedging strategies or remuneration- and liability-related insurance to undermine the risk alignment effects embedded in their remuneration arrangements.

2. The principles set out in paragraph 1 shall apply to the remuneration of any type paid by the AIFM, to any amount paid directly paid by the AIF itself, or to any transfer of shares or units of the AIF, made to the benefits of those categories staff, including senior management, whose professional activities have a material impact on their risk profile or the risk profiles of the AIFs they manage.

These principles shall however not apply to returns paid in connection with the liquidation of the funds, or when the investors have been reimbursed the amounts invested in the funds. (...)

3. AIFM that are significant in terms of their size or the size of the AIF they manage, their internal organisation and the nature, the scope and the complexity of their activities shall establish a remuneration committee. The remuneration committee shall be constituted in a way that enables it to exercise competent and independent judgment on remuneration policies and practices and the incentives created for managing risk.
- The remuneration committee shall be responsible for the preparation of decisions regarding remuneration, including those which have implications for the risk and risk management of the AIFM or the AIF concerned and which are to be taken by the management body in its supervisory function. The remuneration committee shall be chaired by a member of the management body who does not perform any executive functions in the AIFM concerned.
